

Wednesday 21st November

Today we read the story "The day the crayons quit". First we looked at the front cover and discussed what we thought the story would be about, based on the title and the picture. We then looked at the back cover and talked about the signs the crayons were holding.

Then we read the story. We talked about how the crayons would be feeling and made a list of all the words we could think of. We used this list to help us portray these feelings using our bodies and faces. It was great fun!
