

Investigating Materials: Testing the bounciness of balls : taking measurements, recording data and planning scientific enquiries to answer questions.

Separating Materials: Using sieving, filtering and evaporation to separate materials.

Changing Materials: Explaining the changes that take place when vinegar (acid) is added to bicarbonate of soda ( an example of an irreversible change).

